

Figure 10 shows the results of the sensitivity analysis. The results indicate that the model is most sensitive to the input parameters of the initial concentration of the pollutant, the initial concentration of the pollutant, and the initial concentration of the pollutant. The model is also sensitive to the input parameters of the initial concentration of the pollutant, the initial concentration of the pollutant, and the initial concentration of the pollutant.

Figure 2